

RIYADH: Saudi Arabia's budding energy efficiency sector has witnessed notable growth, with the number of licensed service providers reaching 55 by the end of 2023, says a top official.

Saudi Arabia has moved forward in the implementation of energy efficiency standards on key sectors and end-uses linked to their energy saving potential. These standards are focused on and the transport and building ...

The Saudi government has unveiled eight new initiatives to boost energy efficiency, targeting sustainable economic growth and lower carbon emissions. The new initiatives were announced at the Saudi ...

This study was undertaken to gain better understanding of energy demand in residential buildings in hot and dry climates by addressing the influence of building regulations on the energy behaviour of buildings in Riyadh.

This article examines the economics of energy efficiency in Saudi Arabia's building sector, centering on the "energy efficiency paradox," the observed under adoption of cost-effective ...

The client aimed to address these challenges by setting new standards for energy efficiency and sustainability in the residential sector, seeking to enhance their developments' livability and environmental performance.

Using statistical data from GASTAT, SEEC, and GIS spatial analysis, the research highlights Riyadh's disproportionate share of residential energy consumption--approximately 28% of the national...

As industries in Riyadh, Jeddah, and Dammam expand, the demand for energy efficiency solutions in Saudi Arabia has never been higher. From manufacturing plants to commercial complexes, ...

Training programs are key enablers provided by the Saudi Energy Efficiency Center (SEEC) to develop human capital and foster an energy efficiency culture across various sectors. The platform offers ...

Recommendations are outlined to enhance the energy efficiency for Saudi housing stocks. This paper presents a comprehensive literature review specific to energy efficiency programs and policies suitable ...

Web: <https://www.williamsandcopaintcontractors.co.za>