

Fraudulent callers often impersonate government agencies or utility companies, offering "free" solar panel installations or claiming that your electricity bills will be eliminated through ...

To avoid getting scammed, you need to know what to look out for and when to walk away. Here's our guide to spotting solar panel scams and finding a great installer.

Did a salesperson knock on your door and promise free rooftop solar panels at no cost to you? Or say you'll never have to pay another electricity bill because government programs, grants, or ...

Beware of misleading social media ads and sales pitches promising "free" solar, guaranteed savings, or special government payouts--these are major red flags. Compare quotes ...

Have you seen misleading online solar ads or been approached by an aggressive door-to-door salesperson?

These scams start with an unexpected phone call, message on social, or even an in-person visit. The so-called official offers you an "energy audit" to reduce your utility costs. Or they might try to sign you ...

Getting constant calls or emails about solar panels? It may be a scam. Learn red flags, legal protections, & how to stop solar robocalls with Bennett Legal.

If you've received an offer for "free solar panels," it could be a scam. Always look for businesses you can trust - like Accredited Businesses using the BBB Seal. Here's what you should ...

As solar grows in popularity, more scammers are targeting consumers. Here are three common solar scams to look out for, how to avoid them and how to report solar scams.

Learn how to spot solar panel fraud, avoid predatory contracts, and take action if you've been scammed, with guidance from Prevost Law Firm.

Web: <https://www.williamsandcopaintcontractors.co.za>