

However, rogue communication devices not listed in product documents have been found in some Chinese solar power inverters by U.S experts who strip down equipment hooked up to ...

While you are browsing solar power companies, one of them may offer to install a solar panel or solar roof in your home for a small cost or even for free. It's an intentionally misleading claim.

Industry experts Ellen Sirull and Emily Walker have shared common tricks and red flags to watch for with EnergySage that can help you protect your money and make a smart solar ...

Scams are a blight on the solar industry, but that doesn't mean home solar itself is a scam. Here are some tricks to avoiding solar scams, finding reputable installers, and enjoying the benefits ...

These scams start with an unexpected phone call, message on social, or even an in-person visit. The so-called official offers you an "energy audit" to reduce your utility costs. Or they might try to sign you ...

There was a big news in the inverter industry recently, that Deye Co., Ltd. was caught up in a "fraud" storm. A blogger posted on an overseas social platform that the micro-inverter products ...

No information about the cost to remove or transfer solar panels, which could lead you to believe you have future options that might not be available or affordable

The solar industry isn't just failing--it's corrupt to its core. And for many consumers, it's done more harm than good.

There is a solar fraud epidemic, with hundreds of people falling victim to predatory companies. Find out how to protect yourself.

Unexplained communication devices have been found inside some Chinese-made inverter devices, according to a Reuters report. The news agency claims US energy officials are ...

Web: <https://www.williamsandcopaintcontractors.co.za>